

The Horinko Group's Fourth Annual Summit

The Next Generation of Environmental Compliance and Enforcement

October 17, 2012
Washington, DC

We stand at a crossroads in anticipation of the Presidential election, where the nominees promise to bring vastly different approaches to environmental protection. This year's Summit is made up of thought leaders with a great depth of enforcement experience in both the public and private sectors, ensuring a lively, informed dialogue on the future of enforcement toward sustaining our environment and economy.

We expect our public sector panel to focus on more meaningful public engagement with dwindling resources, while the private sector will explore results-oriented enforcement and compliance with lower transaction costs.

We invite you to join this timely conversation, bringing your ideas, your perspectives, your energy, and your contributions to the public discourse at this critical time. Join a focused group of policy innovators for what promises to be a broad-based and dynamic afternoon of spirited discussion that will reveal what the regulatory landscape may look like over the next four years.
